DEPARTMENT OF ATHLETICS
Athletics Redcoat vs. Stadium Usher FAQ

ATHLETICS REDCOAT

STADIUM USHER

Football Duties:

Redcoats generally work at as: gate ticket scanners, elevator operators, Huntington Club attendants, Guest Services attendants, and Skull Session attendants. Most Redcoats work until the start of the 2nd quarter and then are provided a ticket to watch the game with fellow Redcoats. Some positions require Redcoats to work throughout the entire game.

Football Duties:

Stadium Ushers are responsible for greeting guests, checking tickets, responding to their concerns, helping the guests find their seats, assisting guests with disabilities, clearing aisles, checking credentials, giving directions, inspecting work areas for potential hazards and overall crowd management. Generally, Ushers can view the game from their position and will work the entire game.

Stadium Special Events:

Redcoats are needed to work all types of special events inside the stadium such as concerts, commencement and tournaments. A select number of Redcoats can work Huntington Club rental events, sports camps, and provide stadium tours.

Stadium Special Events:

Generally, Ushers are requested to work large stadium events such as concerts and commencement.

Other OSU Sports:

Redcoats serve many other varsity sports at Ohio State. Redcoats have the opportunity to work other sport seasons including baseball, softball, lacrosse, wrestling, volleyball, track, tennis, etc. Redcoats are also asked to work large B1G or NCAA Championship events that Ohio State hosts.

Other Collegiate Sports:

Generally, Stadium Ushers do not work other sports or events outside of Ohio Stadium.

Uniform:

Redcoats are required to purchase and wear a specific uniform including: black Ohio State hat, white dress shirt, necktie/scarf, black pants, and black shoes. A red winter coat and a white summer polo is required to be purchased from our Uniform Store.
